

RITE NOW @ ROP

Q House students spent three nights and four days exploring Nevada's only national park: Great Basin. Located in far eastern Nevada, this beautiful park features a unique opportunity to visit an alpine "island" in the middle of the Nevada desert. Glaciers, 13000 foot peaks, ancient bristlecone pine trees, crystal clear lakes, and stunning caves, make this place an endless opportunity for exploration. Students studied geology, biology, human history, meteorology, and camping skills during cave explorations, hikes, and a climb of one of the highest peaks in Nevada, Mount Wheeler.

Throughout this experience, our students also learned about teamwork, leadership, and positive social interactions, as well as gaining a new respect for our National Parks.
